

“Engaging Activities?”

Are your activities and games engaging? Do they capture the attention of the audience and provide memorable content, or do they check a box that says, yes there's interactivity in my presentation? This session will provide educators, facilitators and trainers ideas and examples of activities and games to include in presentations and training that will engage and educate the audience.

The information presented during this session will minimize employer hesitation in including "FUN" in presentations of all types. Session participants will leave with engaging ideas, information and examples of activities and games they can immediately implement in various training and/or presentations.

Learning during engagement, what a Concept!!!!

Marcia Stewart-Downing of Marciaz Consulting, is an independent consultant with experience in designing and delivering training materials for instructional and computer based training. Her current profession provides her the opportunity to manage projects leading to the development of new and revised instructor led and computer based training.

As a consultant, Marcia consults individuals and businesses on business acumen, portfolio development, needs assessment, event planning, team building, engagement, and project management. She keeps abreast of leading and effective training and business techniques through continuous learning, participation in group panel discussions, presentations at conferences, attendance at career and professional workshops, participation as an attendee and presenter at career and professional workshops, and continually researching current and future training and business materials, methods, techniques and trends.

For questions about your career development, email Marcia at MarciazConsulting@gmail.com.

*TURNING GAMES/ACTIVITIES
INTO LEARNING AND ENGAGEMENT*

Presented By: Marcia Stewart-Downing

People seem to always remember something that was fun. - Marcia

Introduction

Use the space below to list one or more ways you can use the introduction activity in your next training session or meeting:

Why use FUN!!!!

Use the space below to list one or more reasons to use FUN!!!! In your next training session or meeting:

Expectations

| | | |
|--|--|--|
| | | |
| | | |
| | | |

Use the space below to list one or more ways you can use the expectations activity in your next training session or meeting:

Wrap Up

Use the space below to list one or more ways you can use the Wrap Up activity in your next training session or meeting:

What's NEXT!!!!

Use the space below to list what you are going to do differently based on what've learned today:
